Regional Commissioner
Public Building Service
General Services Administration
Room 7911
7th & D Streets, S.W.
Washington, D.C. 20407

Dear Sir:

In accordance with the suggestions of your staff, we hereby request that the GSA guards detailed to CIA conduct full-time gateway inspections of packages, briefcases and other containers, including purses, to prevent the unauthorized removal of classified information from CIA and Intelligence Community buildings, beginning, if possible, on or before 1 September 1978. GSA already conducts entry package inspections of visitors for prohibited items such as explosives, cameras, etc.

All inspections would be conducted in strict conformity with legal authorities and restrictions applicable to GSA and CIA. Signs would be emplaced at Agency entrances advising employees and visitors of inspection procedures. Proposed language for such signs, which would be prepared by CIA, is attached for review by your staff.

We expect to work out the details of the inspection procedures with your staff. We have discussed this subject with James Maddock and Arnold Hesti; the contact points within CIA are [REDACTED] (351-6161) of our Office of Security and [REDACTED] Assistant General Counsel (351-7541).

FROM: [REDACTED]
Acting Director of Security

SUBJECT: Briefcase Inspections

REFERENCE: Memo to DDA fr DCI, dtd 31 Jul 78,
Subject as above

STATINTL

1. Action Requested: None; for information only.

2. Background: The referent asks whether the Federal Protective Officers (FPO's) assigned to this Agency are allowed to ask our employees to open their briefcases and whether Office of Security representatives are allowed to open packages marked "Personal" while conducting surprise briefcase inspections.

The Federal Protective Officers have the authority to inspect briefcases or packages carried by any person entering Agency buildings in order to ensure that prohibited items are not being brought in. These items include such things as cameras, recording or transmitting equipment, weapons, bombs, and incendiary devices. The FPO's also have the authority to stop anyone departing the Agency buildings carrying a package which the Officer suspects might contain Government property. Checks for the presence of classified material are conducted by Office of Security representatives during the course of surprise briefcase/package inspections. Security Officers are stationed beside the FPO's and divert employees carrying briefcases, packages, tote bags, etc., off to one side where they can question the employee while the FPO continues to monitor all persons entering or departing a building.

According to the General Services Administration, an extension of FPO authority to permit them to perform searches for classified material would require a written request to the General Services Administration, a specific delegation of authority to the FPO's from this Agency, and a formal acceptance of Agency responsibility for the acts of the FPO's in making these inspections. A backup Agency presence available to report to the entrance where classified material has been found would be required in order that judgments could be made and appropriate action taken. The Office of General Counsel is currently discussing the feasibility of such an arrangement with the legal counsel of the General Services Administration.

OS 8 2121/A

ADMINISTRATIVE — INTERNAL USE ONLY

On the question of whether Office of Security (OS) representatives are allowed to open packages marked "Personal," each OS inspector is required to operate under the guidance provided by the Office of General Counsel. In providing this guidance, the General Counsel has made it very clear that briefcase inspections are legal only if they are conducted on a consensual basis. Our OS inspectors, therefore, have inspected "personal" packages but only after obtaining the consent of the individual before doing so. To date, we have received no refusals to permit inspections for this reason. Under current procedures, an inspector faced with such a refusal would not open the package. The matter of the refusal would be resolved through Security and command channels.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Administration
FROM: Director of Central Intelligence
SUBJECT: Briefcase Inspections

1. I've just been informed that there's a ruling that the guards at our entrances are not allowed to ask our employees coming and going to open their briefcases. I'd like to know if this is the case, and if so why. It seems to me that that makes it very easy for an employee who wants to take classified material in or out of the building to know when there is a surprise inspection going on and when there is not.

2. I further understand that when the Office of Security inspectors are down there, they are not allowed to open packages marked "personal." If that's the case, I'd like to understand why and whether this is a way employees may circumvent our regulations.

Director of Security

SUBJECT: Briefcase/Package Inspection -
27 February 1978 (U/AIUO)

1. (U/AIUO) Action Requested: None; for your information only.

2. (U/AIUO) Background: On 27 February 1978, a morning briefcase/package inspection was conducted at Headquarters and all outlying buildings, including NPIC and the [REDACTED] 25X1A
[REDACTED] This inspection involved 42 Security Officers. Due to the volume of persons entering the various buildings at any one time, it was not possible to inspect all personnel carrying briefcases and packages.

Reports were written on a total of 19 staff employees. The grades of these individuals ranged from GS-05 to EP-05. Some 50 odd documents were specifically identified; however, the overall total is probably in excess of 100 documents, since legitimate couriers having material properly sealed were not challenged as to the number of documents in their possession. The material which was not properly wrapped included Confidential, Secret, Top Secret, Secret (RD), Secret codeword, and controlled data in the Administrative-Internal Use Only category.

The following is a breakdown of employees found to be carrying material at the time of the briefcase/package inspection:

a. Of the 19 employees involved, 2 individuals were legitimately transporting classified material between buildings; however, the material was not properly wrapped and marked.

b. Five individuals were carrying material marked Administrative-Internal Use Only.

c. The remaining 12 individuals were determined to have had the material at their homes over the weekend and were returning the material to Agency facilities at the time of the briefcase/package inspection. This material included all classifications, including code-word and restricted data.

The attached represents a raw listing of individuals involved in the inspection and does not necessarily mean that there is culpability or violation of security regulations in each case.

Letters to appropriate component supervisors have been sent in each case with the requirement to advise this Office in writing within five working days of any mitigating circumstances.

I understand that no "bag" checks are made at the [REDACTED] office. Please arrange for an early-morning check to be made there similar to the ones conducted periodically at the Hqs and other CIA buildings, and report the results to me.

I believe it is important that the same high standards of security that I endorse for CIA be applied to all elements of the IC under my direct supervision.
